How do we understand the human condition? What is our role here? What is our destiny? Today, these fundamental questions are so confusing not because there is a shortage of answers, but because our concept of the human condition itself is shifting so profoundly. We live at an extraordinary moment when our understanding of the world is being challenged and new perceptions of what it means to embrace life are emerging. This study day will explore the transformation that is taking place in our understanding of the world, the opportunities and challenges it presents to the human community, and implications it has for our Christian faith.

Presented by Fr. Joseph Mitchell, a Passionist priest, who received his training in theology at Catholic Theological Union in Chicago and earned a graduate degree in Philosophy, Cosmology and Consciousness from the California Institute of Integral Studies in San Francisco. He is the director of the Passionist Earth and Spirit Center in Louisville, Kentucky.
